ESSENTIAL REWARDS

Essential Rewards is a Young Living program designed for members only, and it costs nothing to join.

As a member enrolled in this awesome program, you are going to receive preferred shipping rates, which will save you money, along with many other great benefits.

You will have priority concerning product availability. Young Living products are natural, and have a growing season. Despite Young Living's best efforts, some products run out of stock for short periods of time. Young Living will fill Essential Reward orders before filling the other orders.

You will receive points that can be used for free product. (This is the best part). For the first 6 months as an E.R member, Young Living will credit 10% of your product order (pv) into your account which can be used to buy product. After the first 6 months, the 10% becomes 15%, and after 12 months you will receive 20% of your product order, in free points to be used toward free product. This is like getting products 20% below wholesale—and they can be cashed in as often as you like. (You must call customer service to redeem your points).

E.R members also receive various training materials, including select CD's and DVD's.

E.R members who are set up to receive Ningxia Red (item no.3699) on their E.R shipment also receive 10 free sample packs.

Best of all, you can change your order every month if you want to. Or if you want the same products without having to worry about ordering, your shipment will go out unchanged, on the shipping date you have selected.

You have total control. You can change anything you want to change, whenever you want to change it. This includes the shipping date as well as the shipping address, and of course, which products you want that particular month.

All of these benefits are designed to encourage you to make better choices regarding the products you buy. We know you have a choice. We hope you will avoid toxic tooth paste—especially for the children. We hope you will use supplements that digest, and assimilate, rather than pass right through you into the waste system. We hope you will realize that whatever you put on your skin, (your largest organ), ends up in your blood stream. (See Brittanys' story). And we encourage you to stop using chemicals, many of which have cancer causing, and other unknown side-effects, and begin using health balancing products instead. It is for these reasons Dr. Young has put this program in place.

Your only obligation is to spend a minimum of $50.00 in product volume each month.

Of course, if you are telling others about Young Living and sharing in this vision, you must be on Essential Rewards to be eligible for bonuses. Also, in order to be eligible for some of the bonuses, a minimum $100.00 p.v. order must be scheduled that month.
